

Lightly raced 3-year-old filly the one to beat based on improved form since stretching to a route of ground. Although he tainted because odds-on favorite lost rider at start, Carressa came right back next out to prove her win was legit. She had rallied wide to loom threat quarter pole, but winner got first run. Carressa still finished nearly two lengths clear of third, and may only need a clean trip to win. - Brad Free

---

